

ABSTRACT

In order to make the change of subscription type easy for subscribers using prepaid subscriptions, information indicating the types of a last used voucher and a new voucher is maintained. This information can be used to determine the types of said vouchers, to detect a change of subscription type and to select the proper way to update the credit.